WHAT IS THE CHILD CARE INNOVATION FUND?

ECIC's Child Care Innovation Fund collaborates with regional and community partners to pilot common-sense business, workforce, and financing solutions to expand equitable access to high quality, affordable child care. Created in 2021 with a $3 million seed investment from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation and expanded into a public-private partnership in 2022 with a $12.5 million grant from the Michigan Department of Education as part of the Caring for MI Future initiative, the Fund connects entrepreneurs in local communities with funding, mentorship, and peer networks to hone and implement their innovative ideas to quickly expand access to high quality, affordable care for working families.

ECIC's Child Care Innovation Fund works with public and private sector entrepreneurs to bring innovative solutions from other states to Michigan and test first-of-their-kind projects, such as:

- Economic development strategies that incentivize regional or community efforts to open more high quality, affordable child care programs inclusive of equitable wages and benefits for early educators.
- Employer-based strategies that expand the benefits typically offered by employers to include help with child care expenses or access to onsite licensed, high-quality child care facilities.
- Start-up strategies that help streamline the process and support the costs associated with starting or expanding a licensed child care business.

As a parent, I know how critical it is to ensure access to affordable, high-quality child care," said Lt. Governor Garlin Gilchrist II. "ECIC's Child Care Innovation Fund serves as Michigan's child care accelerator, fast-tracking solutions for working families, the child care workforce, employers, and communities. Governor Whitmer and I are thankful for the partnership of the ECIC and committed to ensuring that parents in every Michigan community can go to work knowing their kids are cared for."

CASE STUDY: APPRENTICESHIP INNOVATION IN KALAMAZOO

The Edison Early Childhood Education Career Pathway in Kalamazoo, Michigan, is an innovative approach to developing an effective workforce.

When and how did this project begin?

- The Edison Neighborhood communicated need for additional infant/toddler and non-traditional child care (24-hour drop-in and 2nd/3rdshift)
- A partnership open to innovation (Hollander & YWCA) bringing affordable housing and affordable child care together
- A significant barrier identified to the successful expansion of early learning and child care services: a workforce

I believe in investing in the future and the future is our children. I know that I'm teaching the next president, doctor or lawyer."

– Donna Craig, Early Learning Professional, YWCA Kalamazoo

One of the first recipients of funding from ECIC's Child Care Innovation Fund, the Edison Early Childhood Education Career Pathway piloted a new approach to build their early care and education workforce: a registered early care and education apprenticeship.

By engaging adults who lived within walking distance of the new 24-hour child care facility and who were not fully participating in the workforce, the pilot program offered literacy services, academic and basic skills, non-academic supports such as housing assistance, plus on-the-job training in the early childhood field. This unique model offers candidates the opportunity to earn two nationally recognized credentials in early care and education, while earning a competitive wage with benefits. Unlike traditional career pathways in early care and education, the apprentices "earn-as-they-learn."

Based on the early and promising success of this innovation, ECIC will be funding up to 10 additional communities across Michigan in 2023 to pilot an apprenticeship program to help solve their early care and education workforce challenges.

LOOKING AHEAD

In August 2022, the Early Childhood Investment Corporation (ECIC) received $12.5 million in federal American Rescue Plan Act funding, awarded by the Michigan Department of Education (MDE) through the Caring for MI Future initiative. Caring for MI Future is a $100 million investment that will help more Michigan families find quality, affordable child care in their community by opening 1,000 new, or expanded, child care programs by the end of 2024.

Starting in the fall of 2022, ECIC began issuing calls for applications from communities seeking funding in one of the three following innovation opportunities:

- 1. Regional planning grants that, through a partnership with the MI Economic Development Corporation, bring economic development and early childhood leaders together to accelerate community-level efforts to address Michigan's child care crisis
- 2. Design, pilot, and scale-up grants that support communities to launch, replicate, or sustain early care and education apprenticeship programs to address child care workforce challenges
- 3. Supply-building grants specifically for entrepreneurs that operate home-based child care programs to design and launch family child care networks

Greater access to affordable child care is absolutely critical to creating economic impact and advancing our efforts to attract, retain and grow businesses and supporting vibrant communities across Michigan," said Quentin L. Messer, Jr., CEO of MEDC and President and Chair of the MSF Board. "We are pleased to work with our partners at the Michigan Department of Education and ECIC on this program."

WORKFORCE

- child care providers
- Create "earn-and-learn" career

WORKING FAMILIES

- Ensure that every Michigan family with young children that wants it has access to early care and education within 5 miles of the family's home or parents' work
- Ensure that no Michigan family pays more than 7% of their income for high-quality child care

OUR INNOVATION SOLUTIONS

SUPPLY BUILDING

- Bring economic development and early childhood sectors together to implement strategies that increase the supply of child care to meet the needs of working families, employers, and communities
- Increase the supply of in-demand care, with a special focus on infant-toddler care and non-traditional hours

In February 2022, ECIC prototyped and tested a Promising Ideas Incubator. The use of an incubator to assist entrepreneurs to generate strategic, viable innovation concepts is common in the business sector but, historically, there has been little to no support to develop innovations among child care providers and other would-be innovators. ECIC's Promising Ideas Incubator is a first-of-its-kind system level innovation for Michigan, specifically designed to generate the child care innovations Michigan needs to powerfully impact the current child care crisis.

Investment: $37,500 from philanthropy (25 incubator grants)

*Philanthropic support to launch ECIC's Child Care Innovation Fund strategically provided by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. This innovation was funded through a generous partnership with the Ralph C. Wilson, Jr. Foundation.
